Everyone wants to be healthy and does something to keep his health. Although, the latest research shows that young people are not as healthy as they were ^{nowadays} twenty years ago. What is the reason of that? Are people taking less cares of themselves? ~~nowadays~~

I'm sure, the answer would be no. People hadn't changed, but the world had. Technical progress ^{has} made our nowadays life unlike it was twenty years ago. In our homes are many things that ^{can} damage health, like computers, microwaves, TVs. In addition, the environment ~~are~~ polluted by factories, cars and stuff.

Unlikely or not, we ~~cannot~~ stop the progress. But we can try to solve out many environmental problems. We can do more sports regularly than our parents in their youth.

In conclusion, everyone chooses to keep his health or not by themselves. And if they want to, they will become more healthier than others.
