Kennedy's utterance.

- 20 points

One of the popular utterances is "Don't ask what your country did for you, but ask what you did for your country". This utterance was spoken by J. Kennedy.

Today I want to describe how I understand the utterance. I think many people don't like the way how governments work. There are lots of useless paper. It's sometimes hard to get medical help. There are many problems in education. People can tell you about other examples of problems. But let's remember the proverb. It tries to teach us that we should stop complaining and start to actually do something to fix the problems. Everybody should try to improve the life in society. For example, people must keep the territory of our country clean.

To sum it up, the utterance explains us that we should do something for the country. Then and only then the country will help you. You should start from yourself.
