D. Kennedy said: "Don't ask what your country did for you, but ask what you did for your country." I agree with his words. - 20 points

As for me that sentence is very close to reality. Because many people wants so much from our country, but can't give something instead.

I think the most percent of people never do anything for the country, but they want more and more. People can't keep nature clean. They ~~are~~ throw garbage everywhere and they didn't try to clean it. If you help your country, your country will help you. We must keep our country clean and never break rules. Many people are working on country and help it.

I think sense of this utterance <sup>is</sup> very simple. It means that you can't get something from country, if you didn't make some thing.
